

Record Series #: 3121-008
Name: City of Savannah, Engineering Department – Retrospective Maps
Collection: East/West Maps
Dates: 1784-1927, no date
Extent/Size: 1112 maps in 3 document cases, 6 flat archival boxes and 51 oversize folders (15.3+/- cubic feet)
Language: English

Scope and Content:

Record Series 3121-008, City of Savannah, Engineering Department – Retrospective Maps Collection: East/West Maps (1784-1927, no date), forms part of a larger collection that documents City of Savannah property holdings and transactions related to land subdivision and development, street openings and improvements, water and sewer lines, and property lines and right-of-ways (also see Record Series 3121-007 General Maps and Record Series 3121-009 Property Maps). Many maps include the names of property owners. When possible, these names are provided in the attached inventory. This collection also highlights several City Engineers and City Surveyors that had long standing careers with the City of Savannah. The collection includes originals and copies. The earliest date of an original map in this collection is 1799.

System of Arrangement and Ordering:

The Retrospective Maps Collection: East/West Maps are arranged numerically by assigned map reference number. A numerical inventory is maintained by the Library & Archives with the following information recorded for each map:

Preservation Note:

The Retrospective Maps Collection was transferred to the City of Savannah, Research Library and Municipal Archives from the Engineering Department in August 1987. The original re-housing and inventorying project was completed by the Library & Archives in 1988, and maintained the original order of the maps established by the Engineering Department.

In addition to addressing the unique preservation issues of the East/West Maps, this re-housing project served several purposes: made maps easier to handle; and facilitated the creation of a new Microsoft Access database inventory with additional keyword indexing to identify proper names not brought out in the original indexing system which allowed only one alphabetical term to be indexed per map. Descriptions of maps for the numerical inventory were taken directly from the original 1988 inventory and verified against the maps during the re-housing project. During re-housing, several maps were found to be missing and were so identified in the inventory, and several un-catalogued maps were discovered and added to the inventory.

The maps were originally housed in oversize map books with items glued front and back to heavy stock cardboard pages. The bindings were removed in the initial re-housing, but the maps were left adhered to the cardboard. Over the years, storage and retrieval of the maps on these acidic pages had caused increased deterioration and damage to the individual maps including tears, discolorations, transference of ink and graphite, and unnecessary wear and tear.

In an effort to preserve the maps and halt the damage this record series was re-housed in 2009. All maps whose adhesive had disintegrated enough to allow safe removal from the cardboard were separated. Those that could not be removed were left alone but re-housed in individual folders so they would no longer be touching. All maps were re-housed in legal sized folders and document cases or oversized folders in flat file map drawers, based on their map size.
